LAPD BOPC. Chief, All LAPD and All Citizens,

Since the BOPC meeting was canceled last week I did not have an opportunity to wish you all a Happy July 4th Independence Day so I belatedly do so now. That was a day to reflect on our independence and freedom and the high cost of independence and freedom we enjoy that was paid for with the blood of patriots. It did not go unnoticed that the LAPDONLINE website and the LAPD did not publicly observe or mention Our Independence Day holiday. Was that an oversight or intentional expression of apathy toward our nations history and the lack of appreciation for the sacrifices of so many patriots in blood? What a sad commentary on the LAPD.

Two weeks ago at the last scheduled meeting Chief Choi stated and I quote, " Violent Protests will not be tolerated". I totally support that position. Those words will be put to the test. Only time will tell. When the rights of people to peacefully protest are attacked by violent radical revolutionaries or anyone where is the federal government and why is it not prosecuting people for the violation of the civil rights of peaceful protesters? There must be consequences for criminal behavior! Arrests can be made and are made by our LAPD officers but without prosecutions and consequences the arrest are for naught.

LAPD numbers of personnel, morale and capability continue to decline while crime, reported and unreported, and the fear of crime continue to rise. We must take a brutally honest look at why this is so. We must forsake identity politics and ideology and seek common sense solutions for the common good for the common people!

God Bless Our Officers and Protect them,
Voices For LAPD
