LAPD Police Commissioners,

Last week the LAPD Police Commission was canceled due to technical difficulties again. What is going on there at the LAPD Police Commission? It's one thing to have a technical issue with the technology of audio and visual systems but the fiasco to which the viewing public was subjected to was an embarrassment to the LAPD Police Commission. If the audio or video function is not operating then shut down the system and put an experiencing technical difficulties sign up immediately. The Police Commission allowed a fiasco to be broadcast with heckling and water bottle issues being heard by the Zoom audience. This scene made the Police Commission look inept which doesn't exactly build trust and confidence in the LAPD Police Commission.

One never knows when a Police Commission meeting is going to be canceled for a variety of reasons. Here are some materials that I recommend for the Police Commission and those interested in reality about the LAPD, policing and political affairs past and present.

1. The Marlon Marrache Show aka "The IA Guy"(Podcast)
2. "The War On Cops" by Heather MacDonald (Book)
3. 'What Schools Don't Teach You about Slavery" Matt Walsh (video)
4. "The Truth About Slavery your History Class Didn't Teach you" Matt Walsh (video)

5. "NYPD Finest and Unfiltered" with John Macari, Eric Dym. and Marlon Bethel (Podcast)

6. "The Politically Incorrect Guide to Communism" by Paul Kengor. (Book)

It appears that another opportunity to further the cause of Community Policing is going to be squandered again since the "National Night Out" event has not yet been mentioned at the Police Commission meeting. When is the LAPDONLINE.ORG website going to be properly utilized for the cause of conveying information? Communication is a two way street and it appears that this street is closed!

Restore communication's between the community and the police on every level and in ever way, now!

A Frustrated Citizen,
Steve Reilly
