To the BOPC,

On the agenda this week is LAPD's Annual Report of its own violence in 2021. This bloated document contains page after page of LAPD reporting on its own policies and providing its account of police actions, but in reality, LAPD is not a reliable source of information about itself or the community.

In the report, LAPD's analysis, as always, hinges on viewing criminality through the lens of race. In the Statistical Snapshot section, LAPD's central analysis is regarding who it considered "suspect" in crimes recorded by the department in 2021, and what the race and neighborhood of that person was. But just as we cannot view any racial statistics without considering the racism of society, we cannot read any report by LAPD without considering its anti-Black culture and practices.

Currently and historically, LAPD uses racist policing tactics alongside socio-economic racial inequities to create the false narrative of racial criminality: that some races are inherently more criminal. The department does this to justify its racialized policing and anti-Black terror and oppression, as well as denial of resources. In reality, we know that criminality is not linked to race but to a person's conditions; including poverty, the exploitation of labor, and lack of adequate resources and services.

There is a long history of the use of crime data and racial statistics by white society and institutions to link negative stereotypes to Black people. This same so-called "data-driven" analysis is used by institutions today, including LAPD, to justify racialized violence. We reject LAPD's report and its "summary."

LAPD was the most murderous police department in the US in 2021. Stop killing people and stop giving more money to LAPD. We demand a divestment from this violent department, and demand an investment in communities and accessible services. Defund the Police!

In addition: Decrease Moore's time in Police Commission meetings and open up public comment, with no restrictions on the number of speakers, and no 45-minute time limit. Members of the communities most affected by policing are by far the most knowledgeable about the real-world effects of the matters before the board, and about LAPD in their neighborhoods, and you need to hear what they have to say.

Disgustedly,

Mayank Keshaviah

Commissioners,

On the agenda this week is LAPD's Annual Report of its own violence in 2021. This bloated document contains page after page of LAPD reporting on its own policies and providing its account of police actions, but in reality, LAPD is not a reliable source of information about itself or the community.

In the report, LAPD's analysis, as always, hinges on viewing criminality through the lens of race. In the Statistical Snapshot section, LAPD's central analysis is regarding who it considered "suspect" in crimes recorded by the department in 2021, and what the race and neighborhood of that person was. But just as we cannot view any racial statistics without considering the racism of society, we cannot read any report by LAPD without considering its anti-Black culture and practices.

Currently and historically, LAPD uses racist policing tactics alongside socio-economic racial inequities to create the false narrative of racial criminality: that some races are inherently more criminal. The department does this to justify its racialized policing and anti-Black terror and oppression, as well as denial of resources. In reality, we know that criminality is not linked to race but to a person's conditions; including poverty, the exploitation of labor, and lack of adequate resources and services.

There is a long history of the use of crime data and racial statistics by white society and institutions to link negative stereotypes to Black people. This same so-called "data-driven" analysis is used by institutions today, including LAPD, to justify racialized violence. We reject LAPD's report and its "summary."

LAPD was the most murderous police department in the US in 2021. Stop killing people and stop giving more money to LAPD. We demand a divestment from this violent department, and demand an investment in communities and accessible services. Defund the Police!

In addition: Decrease Moore's time in Police Commission meetings and open up public comment, with no restrictions on the number of speakers, and no 45-minute time limit. Members of the communities most affected by policing are by far the most knowledgeable about the real-world effects of the matters before the board, and about LAPD in their neighborhoods, and you need to hear what they have to say.

Commissioners,

It will come as little surprise that LAPD is engaged in upholding structural racism in our society by using data to enforce racist policy that targets communities of color. These tactics have made the force the deadliest in the nation.

To the Commissioners,

I saw the agenda this week and I see LAPD's Annual Report of its own violence in 2021. This bloated document contains page after page of LAPD reporting on its own policies and providing its account of police actions, but LAPD is not a reliable source of information about itself or the community. This should be obvious based on simply looking at the history of self reporting.

In the report, LAPD's analysis, as always, hinges on viewing criminality through the lens of race. In the Statistical Snapshot section, LAPD's central analysis is regarding who it considered "suspect" in crimes recorded by the department in 2021, and what the race and neighborhood of that person was. There is a long history of the use of crime data and racial statistics by white society and institutions to link negative stereotypes to Black people. This same so-called "data-driven" analysis is used by institutions today, including LAPD, to justify racialized violence. We reject LAPD's report and its "summary."

LAPD was the most murderous police department in the US in 2021. Stop killing people and stop giving more money to LAPD. We demand a divestment from this violent department, and demand an investment in communities and accessible services. Defund the Police!

In addition: Decrease Moore's time in Police Commission meetings and open up public comment, with no restrictions on the number of speakers, and no 45-minute time limit. Members of the communities most affected by policing are by far the most knowledgeable about the real-world effects of the matters before the board, and about LAPD in their neighborhoods, and you need to hear what they have to say.

Commissioners,

On the agenda this week is LAPD's Annual Report of its own violence in 2021. This bloated document contains page after page of LAPD reporting on its own policies and providing its account of police actions, but in reality, LAPD is not a reliable source of information about itself or the community.

In the report, LAPD's analysis, as always, hinges on viewing criminality through the lens of race. In the Statistical Snapshot section, LAPD's central analysis is regarding who it considered "suspect" in crimes recorded by the department in 2021, and what the race and neighborhood of that person was. But just as we cannot view any racial statistics without considering the racism of society, we cannot read any report by LAPD without considering its anti-Black culture and practices.

Currently and historically, LAPD uses racist policing tactics alongside socio-economic racial inequities to create the false narrative of racial criminality: that some races are inherently more criminal. The department does this to justify its racialized policing and anti-Black terror and oppression, as well as denial of resources. In reality, we know that criminality is not linked to race but to a person's conditions; including poverty, the exploitation of labor, and lack of adequate resources and services.

There is a long history of the use of crime data and racial statistics by white society and institutions to link negative stereotypes to Black people. This same so-called "data-driven" analysis is used by institutions today, including LAPD, to justify racialized violence. We reject LAPD's report and its "summary."

Commissioners,

This bloated document contains page after page of LAPD reporting on its own policies and providing its account of police actions, but in reality, LAPD is not a reliable source of information about itself or the community. I personally have found victims listed on the LA Times Homicide Report that are not reported in these reports. Often videos are not provided as well.

In the report, LAPD's analysis, as always, hinges on viewing criminality through the lens of race. In the Statistical Snapshot section, LAPD's central analysis is regarding who it considered "suspect" in crimes recorded by the department in 2021, and what the race and neighborhood of that person was. In the Statistical Snapshot section, LAPD's central analysis is regarding who is considered a "suspect" in crimes recorded by the department in 2021, and what the race and neighborhood of that person were. But just as we cannot view any racial statistics without considering the racism of society, we cannot read any report by LAPD without considering its anti-Black culture and practices.

Currently and historically, LAPD uses racist policing tactics alongside socio-economic racial inequities to create the false narrative of racial criminality: that some races are inherently more criminal. The department does this to justify its racialized policing and anti-Black terror and oppression, as well as denial of resources. In reality, we know that criminality is not linked to race but to a person's conditions; including poverty, the exploitation of labor, and lack of adequate resources and services.

There is a long history of the use of crime data and racial statistics by white society and institutions to link negative stereotypes to Black people. This same so-called "data-driven" analysis is used by institutions today, including LAPD, to justify racialized violence. We reject LAPD's report and its "summary."

LAPD was the most murderous police department in the US in 2021. Stop killing people and stop giving more money to LAPD. We demand divestment from this violent department and demand investment in communities and accessible services. Defund the Police!

In addition: Decrease Moore's time in Police Commission meetings and open up public comment, with no restrictions on the number of speakers, and no 45-minute time limit. Members of the communities most affected by policing are by far the most knowledgeable about the real-world effects of the matters before the board, and about LAPD in their neighborhoods, and you need to hear what they have to say.

Commissioners,

On the agenda this week is LAPD's Annual Report of its own violence in 2021. This bloated document contains page after page of LAPD reporting on its own policies and providing its account of police actions, but in reality, LAPD is not a reliable source of information about itself or the community.

In the report, LAPD's analysis, as always, hinges on viewing criminality through the lens of race. In the Statistical Snapshot section, LAPD's central analysis is regarding who it considered "suspect" in crimes recorded by the department in 2021, and what the race and neighborhood of that person was.
