LAPD Chief Choi, Board of Police Commissioners, the entire LAPD and Public,

Last week Chief Choi announced the tragic death of NYPD Officer Jonathan Diller who was slain during a "routine traffic stop" in the neighborhood of Far Rockaway, Queens, New York. This tragic incident should be yet another wake up call for our politicians and public to get serious in the area of law enforcement and criminal justice system which continues to be soft on crime and recidivists.

Let the following article be a wake up call for all!

Officer Diller's family is in our hearts and prayers.
God Bless.

Respectfully,
Voices For LAPD

To the LAPD Board of Police Commissioners,

Police Commission meetings only allow members of the public to comment for a maximum of three minutes.

Therefore contained within the body of this letter are links to websites for you and the entire public which will educate you on the current true status of what is going on in the LAPD as it relates to issues of great concern to us all including but not limited to personnel strength, recruitment, retention, the discipline system, morale and officer wellness.

It is my hope that the Police Commission and members of the public will avail themselves of the knowledge presented by those who were in a position to know and have no vested interest in presenting anything but the truth for the good of the LAPD and public.
